A Printed Letterhead

Adds distinction or "class" to your correspondence. It isn't only the business firm or professional man who now raises his correspondence above the mediocre through aid of the printer's art.

Just your name and address in neat lettering at top or corner of the sheet will add an individual touch that at once raises your letter above the dead level of "ordinary".

The additional cost per letter is trifling.

But of course much depends on the printing.

Convention Should Meet in Honolulu

Dr. Elliot of Hilo Makes Some Constructive Suggestion for Future of Inter-Island Organization.

In view of the general interest at present being taken in regard to the fourth civic convention, to be held on Kauai on the 26th and 27th inst., the following letter of Dr. H. B. Elliot, of Hilo, written to the Hilo Board of Trade, should be of interest:

To the Directors of the Board of Trade of Hilo,

Gentlemen:

I beg to submit the following suggestions relating to the organization of the annual civic convention to you for your consideration.

(1). The 1st Annual Civic Convention was organized by this Board, and certain civic organizations were invited to participate. The purposes of the convention were clearly defined by myself in an address opening the convention.

(2). The organizations which were represented at that time were—The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, Honolulu Merchants' Association, Maui Chamber of Commerce, Kohala Civic League, Kona Improvement Club, and the Board of Trade of Hilo. Invitations were issued to individuals upon the island of Kauai, there being no organization upon that island, then, but none were accepted.

(3). The purposes of the convention were defined to be development of mutual and harmonious co-operation between the various sections of this territory by affording in these meetings an opportunity for better acquaintance and free discussion of common problems.

(4). The fact that two of the organizations which took part in the first convention are practically ignored in the invitations issued for the fourth convention to be held on Kauai this month despite the facts that they are still thriving organizations and have continued to give steady and enthusiastic support to the convention movement each year suggests that it is most desirable that the constituent organizations entitled to the privileges of the convention should be specifically named.

(5). Further, if the original purposes for which this convention was called into existence are still considered desirable it is very evident that any limitation of attendance is a limitation of the usefulness of the convention. Obviously if we are to fulfill these purposes in the fullest degree every member of each participating organization should be encouraged to attend, and if any limitation is considered necessary it should only apply to voting delegates.

(6). The ideal meeting place for these conventions is the city of Honolulu where there is ample public accommodation for any number of visitors, and no necessity exists for accepting private hospitality. It would appear to be in the best interest of the convention movement that this fact shall be recognized in future and that all meetings shall be held there. If it is still considered more profitable that some meetings should be held on the various islands, then each alternate convention should be held in Honolulu.

(7). The convention exists for the benefit of all of the participating organizations, and each one is entitled to a voice in the arrangements made for each convention.

(8). The necessary expenses for the management and entertainment should be paid by contributions from each organization, assessed proportionally upon annual income.

(9). To put any suggestions along these lines into effect it is absolutely necessary that some form of permanent organization must be created for this purpose.

(10). The form of organization should be as simple and unobjectionable as possible. I suggest that it will take the form of a written constitution covering the following points:

(a). Definition of purpose.

(b). Specifying participating organizations.

(c). Creating a board of management consisting of representatives from each organization and defining its powers and duties.

(d). Provisions for assessment for convention expenses.

(e). Provisions for future amendments.

(11). If these suggestions receive the approval of the Board of Trade I further suggest that a communication embodying them be sent to the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, Ad Club, Kauai Chamber of Commerce, Maui Chamber of Commerce, Kohala Civic League, and Kona Improvement Club with a statement that the Board will introduce a resolution at the coming convention asking for the appointment of a committee to draft a written constitution for the future government of these annual conventions with instructions to report to the convention of 1916.

Yours very truly,
H. B. ELLIOT.

NEW KINDERGARTNER RESIGNS.

Mrs. Dora I. Buckingham, who arrived on the last Wilhelmina from the coast to take charge of the Kahului kindergarten, has resigned her position after a ten days trial, and left Maui by the Claudine on Wednesday. Mrs. Buckingham brought with her a splendid record of efficiency from Kalamazoo, Michigan, but she was not satisfied with her new position. It is understood that she intends returning to the Coast.

Weekly Market Letter

HONOLULU, Sept. 13.—Fresh eggs scarce, price and demand good. Island butter meets a better sale but price is still low.

During the next week the Division will have on hand some crate fattened young Muscovy ducks which should meet a ready sale as they will be the best ever put on this market. Preliminary reports indicate that the turkey crop will be light this year and that prices will be higher than last year. Island and sweet corn are very scarce and are selling at high prices. Only small quantities of dried field corn have been received in the market to date. These shipments were weevily. All such corn has to be fumigated and the expenses charged to the consignee. The price of peanuts is extremely low. Quite a large shipment was received from Kauai recently but due to large quantities held by local dealers it was thought best not to put them on the market for the time being.

There is considerable demand for breadfruit. Watermelon continue plentiful. Due to the fact that potatoes have been coming in large quantities and the grocers have large stocks of jam on hand, consignors are advised to make only light shipments.

The prices of livestock and dressed meats remains the same. Hides are bringing the excellent price of 15½¢ a pound for No. 1 grades.

There is a big demand for Sudan grass and Peruvian alfalfa seed. These two crops have proved very successful in every part of the islands where tried. A new supply of this seed will be received by the next steamer from the Coast—A. T. LONGLEY, Supt. Territorial Marketing Division.
